RECORD HIGH SALES FOR WALKER MAGNETICS

Don Morgan, Product Manager of Separation Equipment at Walker Magnetics, announced contracts exceeding one million dollars at the recent ISRI Expo. The orders came from several major shredder manufacturers.

Walker's equipment is used for ferrous metal recovery in the downstream section of scrap processing systems. The magnetic drums will be manufactured at the company's plant in Stoney Creek, Ontario, Canada.

Mr. Morgan said, "Walker won these very competitive orders based on their excellent history with the buyers, plus a reputation in the industry for performance and service after the sale."

Walker supplies other magnetic separation equipment, and also supplied lifting magnets and magnet systems for steel mills, service centers and users.

These orders bring the backlog level at this 110 year old company to a record high.
